Dino-Riders

In 1987, Tyco Industries developed a beautifully-crafted series of action figures and accessories called Dino-Riders. The series quickly became popular, and eventually launched a Saturday morning cartoon show.

Dino-Riders were human-appearing survivors of a devastated planet in a galaxy far from our own. Using S.T.E.P., a time travel device, these survivors escape not only their planet, but also their time and arrive on Earth during the age of the dinosaurs. They befriend the prehistoric animals of ancient Earth and study them in an attempt to prevent the dinosaurs' extinction. They harness the power of these creatures to help fight their evil enemies who have followed them. The enemies, the grotesque Rulons, are humanoids with insect and reptile heads. The Rulons also enlist the aid of the dinosaurs, but they enslave them, shackling them with "brain boxes" that force them to cooperate and do the Rulons' bidding.
